

Quest Activate with Tasso+: Enhanced self-collection

Offer employees a more streamlined self-collection process for biometric screenings

Quest Activate with Tasso+, the enhanced self-collection process from Quest Diagnostics, allows individuals to complete a self-collection for a health screening or other laboratory screening, wherever they are. This offers convenience for the participant and aligns with the shifting healthcare dynamic toward remote and virtual care.

Key benefits of Quest Activate with Tasso+

An easy online activation process eliminating the need for individuals to complete paperwork

Expedited shipping and tracking information for a better user experience

Tape measure included to encourage measurement of biometrics at the time of self-collection

Reduce discomfort during collection with improved blood collection device*

A new guideline-based comprehensive screening panel for optimal health-risk identification
